Amcor recognised among global leaders in corporate sustainability

Amcor has been selected among global sustainability leaders to be included in the Dow Jones Sustainability World Index.

Amcor is one of only two companies within the containers and packaging sector internationally selected for the Dow Jones Sustainability World Index (DJSI) based on social, environmental and economic performance.

The annual review of the DJSI is based on a thorough analysis of corporate economic, environmental and social performance, assessing issues such as corporate governance, risk management, branding, climate change mitigation, supply chain standards and labour practices. The index also takes account of industry specific sustainability criteria.

Ken MacKenzie, Amcor's Managing Director and CEO, said "Amcor strives to meet the highest standards of ethical and environmentally sustainable business practices. It is pleasing that Amcor is recognised amongst the global leaders who are concerned about environmental, social and economic sustainability"
